"Hello! Tum. Glad to see you, old feilow! It's almost ten years since we were married. Sit down; let's have an experience meeting. How's the wife?" Is almost ten years since we were married. Sit down; let's have an experience meeting. How's the wife? "Oh' she's so-so, same as usual,—always wanting something I can't afford."
"Well, we all want something more than we've got. Don't you?"
"Yes: but I guess 'want will be my master." I started to keep down; expenses; and how Lil says I'm 'mean, and she's tired of saving and never having snything to show for it. I saw your wife down street, and she looked as happy as a queen!"
"I think she is; and we are economical, nos,—have to be. My wife can make a little go further than anyone I ever knew, yet she's silvays surprising me with some dainty contribute that adds to the comfort and beauty of our little home, and she's always inorry as a lark. When I sak how she manages it, sie always laughs and says: 'Oh'I that's my socret!' But I think I've discovered her 'secret.' When we married, we both knew we should have to be very careful, but she made one condition; she would have her Magnarine. And she was right! I wouldn't do without it my-self for double the subscription price. We read it together, from the hille-page to the last word: critic Trustee versus Peter J.
